

Price of 12-core optical fiber cable splicing

Article Overview

The cost to splice a 12-core optical fiber cable typically ranges from $50 to $150 per fusion splice point, with total cost influenced by site conditions, fiber type, and additional fees.

Cost Breakdown

Per-Splice Rate: For a 12-core cable, there are 12 splice points per closure. Fusion splicing generally costs $50-$150 per splice, depending on project size, location, and fiber type. Volume pricing may reduce the per-splice cost if multiple cables are spliced in the same project . Site Conditions: Costs vary based on whether the splicing is aerial, underground, or in confined spaces. Underground vaults or busy urban areas may require additional labor, safety measures, and equipment, increasing the cost . Fiber Type: Standard single-mode fibers (OS2) are straightforward, while specialty fibers like ribbon or bend-insensitive types may require specialized splicers and techniques, potentially raising costs . Additional Fees: Mobilization fees for travel, setup, and equipment can range from $150-$500 for local projects, with higher fees for remote or overnight work . OTDR testing is usually included in the per-splice rate, but closures, trays, and project management are often extra .

Equipment Considerations

Fusion Splicer: Essential for fusion splicing, costing $3,000-$15,000 depending on features like automatic alignment and real-time splice loss estimation . Cleaver: Precision cleavers are required to prepare fiber ends, costing $500-$2,000 . Mechanical Splicing: An alternative method, generally cheaper upfront ($100-$500 for a kit), but may result in higher signal loss and is typically used for temporary or emergency repairs .

Summary Estimate

For a single 12-core cable using fusion splicing, the total splicing cost can be roughly calculated as:

- o 12 splices x $50-$150 per splice = $600-$1,800
 - o Plus mobilization and materials: $150-$500 or more depending on site and project specifics
- This estimate provides a realistic range for budgeting purposes, though actual costs may vary based on contractor rates, fiber type, and project complexity .
