

Which company makes the best electrical distribution boxes in Ecuador

Article Overview

Ecuamatriz, Cablecom, and Importadora OTECE are among the most reliable suppliers of electrical distribution boxes in Ecuador.

Ecuamatriz

Ecuamatriz offers electrical distribution boxes designed and assembled for safety and efficiency, available in metallic, polycarbonate, and hybrid materials. Their products are approved by the Ecuadorian Ministry of Energy and Mines, feature high-security machined bolts, tamper-resistant edges, and terminal blocks with capacities exceeding 150 Amperes, ensuring reliable energy distribution and protection of electrical accessories .

Cablecom

Cablecom is a leading distributor of electrical and structured cabling products in Ecuador. They carry products from reputable international and national brands such as Panduit, Belden, Linxcom, Dexson, and Beaucoup, which include cabinets, racks, and electrical boxes. These brands are recognized for high-quality, durable, and safe electrical solutions suitable for industrial, commercial, and residential applications .

Importadora OTECE

Importadora OTECE has over 30 years of experience in industrial electrical material distribution. They distribute products from Schneider Electric (Square D and Dexon), General Electric, Siemens, and their own STROM brand, which includes electrical distribution boxes for automation, control, and lighting systems. Their offerings are known for reliability, compliance with safety standards, and suitability for high- and low-voltage applications .

Key Considerations

When selecting a supplier in Ecuador, consider:

- o Certification and compliance with local energy regulations.
- o Material quality (metallic, polycarbonate, or hybrid) for durability.
- o Capacity and safety features, such as tamper-resistant designs and high-capacity terminal blocks.
- o Reputation and technical support from the supplier. These companies provide a combination of certified products, local availability, and technical support, making them reliable choices for electrical distribution boxes in Ecuador .
